1.The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: the entire disclosure is replete with idiomatic English, primarily, but not solely, the absence of articles "a", "an" or "the".

Appropriate correction is required.

2.Claims 1-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention. This rejection is based on the phrase at page 6, lines 1-3 of the specification, "In-mold foaming: as shown in Figs. 7 and 8, in which, the rubber material 30 is foaming in a vacuum platform 40 for 5 minutes at centigrade 150 deg under pressure 130-150 kg/cm<sup>2</sup>...". This disclosure appears to require the use of a vacuum chamber while also requiring operation at a significant positive pressure. This disclosure would require undue experimentation of one of ordinary skill in the art since that person of ordinary skill would normally associate a foaming step with a release or letdown of pressure while the instantly claimed process requires, or appears to require, foaming under pressure.

3.Claims 1-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. Claim 1 is indefinite because "foaming the rubber material" in clause 2 lacks antecedent basis within the claim since "rubber" has been deleted from clause 1. Claim 2 requires a process for making "special portions" and also refers to "compressing portions "a" and "b" with middle plate". This claim is indefinite because one of ordinary skill in the art would be unable to determine the metes and bounds of this claim, because it is not clear what does constitute and does not constitute a "special portion". Clarification is required.

4. Applicant's arguments filed June 19, 2006 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant's arguments are considered to be moot by the examiner based on the revised grounds of rejection set forth in this Office action.

5. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Allan Kuhns whose telephone number is (571) 272-1202. The examiner can normally be reached on Monday to Thursday from 7:00 to 5:30.
